LIMA, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, JULY 26, 1893

As a Result of the New South Caroline

While the crowd was clustered about the suspended Indianapolis National bank, a few were watching the doors of the Bank of Commerce across the street. At 9 o'clock the cursains remained up and soon a white puper was posted announcing that the bank would not open. The stringency of the money market is the reason given for closing. The Bank of Commerce hus not been one of large deposits, and its failure will not have much effect on the local money market. Its indebtedness is said to be only about $150,000.

The suspensions caused considerable excitement on the streets and a heavy run was made on all the other banks.

At noon the runs on the Meridian and Fletcher's banks ended, but there was still a crowd of depositors in line at the Indiana National beet.

still a crowd of depositors in line at the Indiana National bank.

Indiane National bank.

Confidence is rapidly being restored, as all the other banks were prepared for such emergencies. Their policy has been to keep strong reserve in cash which has for two months or more never been less than 50 per cent of the liabilities.

It is said that the failure of the Indiana National bank to keep strong in its reserve cash inspired the distrust that resulted in its failure. It is believed that two factories will be carried down by the failure of the Indianapolis National.

later the failure of the Louisville De-posit bank was announced.

By this time half a dozen banks in the city were being run by depositors, mostly small ones. They all stood the pressure except one, the Fourth Nation-al, which closed its doors in the board of trade building at 1:10 o'clock. At

The first failure of the present crisis was that of the Kentucky National bank Saturday. Then came the Louisville City National Monday, after the intervention of a Sunday holiday, and the Merchants' National, the Louisville Deposit and the Fourth National yesterday.

The failure of the Merchants' National was caused by the withdrawals of country banks and country depontors. The Louisville Deposit was the only bank in the city not a member of Fourth National was a result of the panic.

There has been a steady pulling out of deposits. This changed into a run after the suspension of the Kentucky National last Saturday, and the run continued Monday and Tuesday and until the funds were exhausted.

None of the failures are considered bad ones. Depositors in the two national banks will be paid in full, and the loss to stockholders will not be more than 60 per cent in either case. The Merchants' National bank is capitalized at $500,000, and J. H. Lindenberger is president. The Fourth National has a capital of $300,000, as surplus of $35,000. George Davis is president. The Louisville Deposit bank has a capital of $300,000 and a surplus $16,128. Moses Schwartz is president.

A CRISIS EXPECTED SOON

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 26 .- The liquor situation in South Carolina has assumed a new phase, and one which is expected to bring the struggle between the liquor men and the state authorities to a crisis. About two weeks ago Judge Hudson of the state circuit court, granted an injunction restraining the Darlington county board of control and the county dispenser from establishing a hquor dispensary in the town of Darlington, principally upon the grounds of the unconstitutionality of the new liquor act. Subsequently the attorney general wont before Associate Justice Pope of the supreme court and secured from him an order holding up the injunction of Judge Hudson until the question could be passed upon by the supreme court. Thereupon, on Thursday last, the dispensary in Darlington was thrown open to the public and Palmetto state liquors have had a good sale there.

Monday, however, the wheel of justice took another turn. Upon the complaint of citizers opposed to the dispensary Judge Hudson has issued a rule against the three members of the county Jourd of control and the county dispenser, requiring them to show cause before him on Friday next why they should not be adjudged guilty of contempt of court. That they will be so adjudged there can not be the slightest doubt, and the quartette, of course, will be promptly committed to jail. It will then be in order for the state's attorney general to endeavor to secure their release by labeas corpus produceding in the supreme court. The entire question of the constitutionality of the new liquor law will thus be brought squarely before that tribunal.

stood—a young man in ordinary male hair snake, for I have in my mind a cer tain vagrant horsehair that I once put in an objective.

Hohlicin was at a loss to account for an oyster keg filled with rainwater, and either that horsehair in the course of a few weeks took on the semblance of life and form of a borsehair snake and kept it up all season in a bottle to which I transferred it, or elso it disappeared, and the germ of what we suppeared, and the germ of what we supposed was a horsehair snake happened to be in the water and developed there. I have al-ways insisted that I made a horsehair snake. I have heard many veracious persons declare that they have done the same thing.
"But you are all wrong," says Nicholas Pike, the naturalist. "The horsehair snake, or hairworm, is the Gordius aquaticus, and it is common in most fresh water pends and rivulets. Though no larger around than a coarse cotton thread, they have two mouths, one on each side of the head. They lay scores and sometimes thousands of eggs. The eggs are deposited in strings, like a chain, on the sides of shallow pends or creeks, and they are greedily swallowed by various aquatic insects. Then from the time the egg is hatched the first part of the worm's nutriment is spent as a parasite, absorbing nutriment from the body of its unlucky bost. The large water beetles are subject to these parasites. They have been found in a crick et. They are graceful swimmers, but when taken from the water they twist themselves into such an intricate knot that it is almost impossible to unloss it. They are called Gordins from this, the Gordina knot.

"I have no doubt that one reason why the idea of the horsehair snake has been propagated is from ignorant persons who have had various insects in clear water watching them for study or curi-osity. Knowing that they put in only certain live creatures, and some day finding these live worms, they were astonished. The chances are that the worms were developed from a pot beetle that in its native pond made a feast on some ova of the Gordins, to be paid dearly for later when these hatched." But there was no pet beetle or any other insect in my keg of rainwater. The horsebair went away, and the snake months for having threatened Harrist or worm appeared. I don't believe the Carew on March 24. The defendant had horschair ever swallowed any Gordius ova. I can't imagine any reason why a horsehair should turn into a snake or worm when kept in the water, but why not a horse's hair as well as a cow's hair or a deer's bair? Some Magnifleent Wedding Cakes.

Some very costly wedding cakes have been made in the royal kitchen of her majesty the queen. That provided for the Princess Beatrice's wedding was said to be worth £300. It weighed 500 pounds, was 9 (set up hearth and 5 feet in diamewas 9 feet in height and 5 feet in diame ter. Six months were occupied in mod-eling the ornaments, among which were 1,800 sprays of sugared leaves of ivy, roses, honeysuckle and other plants. It was conveyed to Osborno in a special van and required 12 men to handle it.

The one provided for the marriage of the Princess Louise with the Duke of Fife was also made by the queen's confectioner and was a most magnificent and costly cake. The cake made for Count Munster's wedding was said to be of great cost. It stood on a handsome silver plateau. It weighed over a hun-dredweight, and was built in two tiers, overtopping everything else in the room where the breakfast was held.—London

Detecting a Calprit.

The Rev. Joseph Haven, who preached in Rochester, N. H., during the last quarter of the last century, has been always remembered for his genial spirit and his inexhaustible humor. One story told of him has many parallels, but it is critical highly the true in his great as quite as likely to be true in his case as in any.

The boy had been guilty of somegrave offense, and yet would not confess it.

"I can tell who did it," sa.d the parson, and accordingly he called together all the boys suspected and explained to them that he had confined a rooser under kettle in a darkened room. One after another they must pass in and touch the kettle. When the guilty boy touched it, he might expect to hear the rooster crow. The lads filed in and out servin and were made to display their fingers. All but those of one lad were sooty. He, the guilty one, had not ventured to touch the telltale kettle.—Youth's Companion. A Theory as to Swigging "What makes Swiggins such an un conscionable liar? "Stinginess. He has as many facts as anybody, but he hates to give them out."

A Devout Celestial. In one of the Sunday schools at Olym-pia is a little Chinese boy who takes great interest in all the proceedings. When impressed with the propriety of bringing a nickel to put in the contribution box, he promptly responded, but as he parted with it he asked, "What for" The kind teacher replied, "It's for Jesus, my dear." The second Sunday the same mestion and the same answer. The third nday the same, but now the little Colestial's eyes opened with carnestness as he further asked, "Jesus allus bloke" The reply of the teacher is not recorded. -Portland Oregonian.

There are many alleged efficacious ways to get rid of those troublesome pests, the sugar ants. A late one is to sprinkle powdered sugar through a dry sponge and leave it on the closet shell; in a short time it will be full of the busy insects; take the sponge gently then and drop it in boiling water. A few such massacres will, it is zxid, depopulate the most infested places.

the monum at screeted in churches and ols which every now and then come in art church monuments crecied by the loving but mistaken triends of the dead is good to note a decided advance in this respect here in New York. In some of our churches exquisite windows, rival-ing in the delicacy of their tones those to be found in the old churches of the continent of Europe, have been placed. Now it is announced that mother door, set in a carved doorway, is to be placed in Grace church by the family of the late Charles Guswold Langdon. This will make each entrance to the church represent a memorial to some former member of the parish. The good thing about a window or a doorway is that in each case there is a design to improve the church rather than satisfy that mthe case of so many mural and statuary memoriais. – New York Sun.

Then marriage was until yesterday kept a promankind toward a freer movement over the face of land and water. If we are to believe the evolutionists, man is the result of gradual aspiration, from the worm that walloweth on a portion of its anatomy unsuited to ears polite, through the many footed, the four footed and four banded beasts, up to the natural lord of creation who runs perpendicular on two teet. The present century has seen man become what the old legends would have termed the "Thirling one foot," Why should not this progress continue and the next ce nury find man rising from that single pied a terre into more or less sustained aviation? Birds are lighter than beasts, but they are not soa; bubbles. And to the bird we have to return indirectly or directly for lessons at the navigation of the air, The aeroplane, in which our able aviat-ors 610 flow reposing so much confilence, but upon which they take care not to repose their own brittle bodies, is the result of a study of the soming of hards. Latterly it has been reasoned out that individual feathers have a poverini unfluence in supporting th not solid, but with slats, and in some cases jointed in sections, so that while me portion is in one plane mother may it tilted up or down to get the lifting power of a change of angle. This power is so great that our leading asseters, like Dirana Maxim and Professor Langthey can once get their airships under way and under control.

The money spent by these inventors nd investigators is mounting to a great sum, but who shall say it is wasted, con-sidering the benefits to accrner. The remark attributed to Cofford when dying that he would not reveal the secret of hiairship because the thought he saw the air ensanguined by war as the seas lave been, and the earth," need not disturb been, and the earth," need not disturb us. If he did say that, he was temporar rily in a state of weakness, for the fly-ing machine will do more than anything yet invented to break down the preju-dices of one nation for another. The bicycle with elec-tric motor is invented. Now comes the turn of a combination of bicycle and aviator which shall permit the rider to leave earth and slam along for 100 yards or so without decriment to himself or his machine. By way of these inventions will come the discovery, step by step, of means and methods of sustainng flight for longer periods and also the actual training in motion through the air which is now wanting to man-
